As the only restaurant in the city offering traditional yakitori, Mizu has a strong hold on diners who favor authentic Japanese cuisine. The contemporary design, optimal for large groups and celebrations, offers a festive and lively atmosphere with a peaceful decor. The space is ideal for Mizu's agenda, which is to offer an authentic Japanese dining experience complete with a 3-4 hour dinner. Diners are encouraged to enjoy and savor the "process of eating," with plentiful yakitori Japanese miso or grilled skewers. For adventurous eaters the menu reveals a paradise with selections such as chicken skin and chicken gizzard, duck breast and squid leg in addition to house specials including ginko nuts, pork and duck negima and chicken soft bone. Creativity and innovation are paramount to Mizu's head chef, who was trained in Japan and has more than 40 years experience. For the traditional Japanese meal, Old Town's Mizu is catching quite a following.
